THE GEORGES

Boutique Inn | Lexington, Virginia

Washington Building

Marshall Building

Lawyer's Row

The Livery

The Georges, an award-winning member of Historic Hotels of America, occupies four buildings on Main Street in Lexington, Virginia, a quaint town steeped in history and located in the heart of the beautiful Shenandoah Valley. Each building is a unique piece of the past, revitalized with fine accommodations for our guests to enjoy today.

The Washington and Marshall buildings are two of Lexington's oldest structures, both built more than 200 years ago. Formerly serving as homes, shops, inns, and offices, they were elegantly renovated and revitalized for modern enjoyment and opened as The Georges in 2014. The Patton Room, previously an auto mechanic shop and photography studio, was updated in 2018 to house a special event space that opened in 2019.

The Georges is extremely pleased with both the product and the workmanship that went into the hardwood floors, the kitchen flooring, as well as the soundproofing of floors in our guest rooms in one of our newest and uniquely designed properties "The Georges @ The Livery."
